

Library Reference 1.2

(A & B) A spring precipitation deficit in 2010 - as compared to the NOAA 30-year historical average measured at Syracuse Hancock Airport - was recovered in the summer of 2010. Following a relatively wet summer and fall, the year ended with a 4.7-inch surplus of precipitation.

(C) Monthly air temperatures were close to the 30-year average.